UNDERSTANDING THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN LEARNING DISABILITIES AND MENTAL HEALTH

WEDNESDAY FEBRUARY 22, 2017
6:30 - 8:00 pm

Integra specializes in understanding the complex relationship between learning disabilities and mental health (LDMH). This workshop looks at how anxiety, depression and other mental health challenges are complicated by LDs. It incorporates current thinking in the field of learning disabilities and evidence-informed, best practices in related mental health fields to better understand how learning disabilities can complicate mental health in children and adolescents. Special considerations and approaches to working with children and youth with LDMH are discussed.
